When Nature Strikes
Rockne's Power
Why Babies Eat Pins
When Our Eyes Open
By Arthur Brisbane

NATURE STRIKES with horrible force. IN SIX SECONDS Managua, capital of Nicaragua, was destroyed, every building in the business district leveled to the ground, more than a thousand killed, two thousand injured.

No attack in war equals that. And the Managua disaster is trifling compared with the famous Lisbon earthquake of November 1, 1755. In an instant the great city of Portugal became a mass of rubble. A tidal wave rolled in, wrecking shipping in the Tagus, drowning many. Then fire broke out to complete the destruction.

Twenty thousand were killed, property loss amounted to $100,000,000, and the earthquake shock was felt from Scotland to Asia Minor.

The extent of this disaster, wrecking churches, caused many to lose faith in Christianity.

It should rather have increased faith in standing firm, for the earth's marvelous stability, traveling around the sun at the rate of nearly 2,000,000 miles a day and going with the sun through space, Heaven knows how fast.

President Hoover telegraphs the widow of Knute Rockne, "I know that every American grieves with you." A great teacher was Rockne. He convinced himself that his boys could win, convinced them that they could win, and they did win.

Success depends on transferring ideas from your own head into the heads of others. Many, old with creaking machinery, will ask, "How many teachers and higher mathematics have you ever produced?" The answer would be to attend him at such a situation as the teacher of football.

He was THE BEST TEACHER OF FOOTBALL.

Knute Rockne's name and his memory.

Dr. Jackson, whose specialty is removing foreign bodies from the eyes, and food managers, may rather avoid pins because their needles set the eyes.

When changed the baby a month, the baby learned to imitate, as all young animals must, not only by its mouth.

Don't hold pins in your mouth in the presence of babies or young children.

Earl Musselman, 22, student at the Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind and blind from birth, can now see, thanks to surgery, and has taken his first look at this world.

Bright flowers delight him and he finds intense pleasure in studying faces of companions whom he knew only by their voices.

The young man says: "I won't be able to guess at things any more."

Perhaps we shall all say that, when we look at the other side of the grave, and our eyes are open.

Let us hope so. This period of worry would hardly be worth while, if it were all.

April fool is an interesting day for the late Mr. Darwin, developing many characteristics of monkey-house dwellers. Yesterday thousands in big cities found on their desks memoranda asking them to call Mrs. Fox on the telephone at number 40 and so on.

The April fool is queer, would be told this is the fool who Mrs. Fox do want?

Or the April fool is the one who Mrs. Fox do want?

LEGISLATORS WARNED BY MAYOR TO AID BILLS

Threatens to Carry Manner of Vote on City Bills to Constituents

With an ultimatum to Boston's members of the Legislature, Mayor Curley today demanded that they actively support various measures pending before the House and Senate.

His ultimatum would give the city an extra cent out of the gasoline tax, and said other mayors and administrators throughout the state would take similar action.

This measure, he said, would cost $5,000,000 additional to be distributed among the cities and towns this year, of which Boston's share would be $1,300,000, without which there will be a 50-cent boost in the tax rate.

VIEWED AS THREAT.
He promised to notify the constituents of all who did not indicate by inference how they would vote on the bills.

Leaving the meeting room, many of the legislators frankly admitted they viewed this as a threat. None of them took advantage of the mayor's invitation to speak, when he had finished his remarks.

"What the hell was the purpose of the members from other sections are and trade value with them," he advised, and then uttered.

Fall River, April 2—Verna V. Galvin, maternal witness in the Verna Russell murder, was given for several hours today and then put through a dramatic re-enactment of every claimed move on the night the Fall River nurse was strangled.

This re-enactment included a visit to the Tiverton, R. I., inn where the girl's body was found and to which, Galvin claims, he was driven by Elliott R. Hathaway, the alleged slayer, to see the body five hours before police knew of the crime.

Galvin's long questioning began after announcement was made that a second arrest in the case was looming and that officials of this state were convinced the Truistade Hospital nurse was killed in Fall River and transported to Rhode Island by two men, one of whom feared the Massachusetts penalty for murder.

Melaga, Spain, April 2 (AP)—Thirty-one bodies were recovered today from the wreckage of the French steamer Florida after her collision with the British aircraft carrier Glorious in a dense fog 80 miles off Gibraltar yesterday.

Authorities were continuing the search for additional bodies, but because of the confusion it could not be definitely established whether or not others were missing.

The bodies which were identified included 17 Italians, five Syrians, four Poles, one Russian, three Slovaks and one Spaniard.

In spite of the fog, planes from the aircraft carrier flew overhead and witnessed the accident. The flying deck of the carrier was littered with debris and the planes were forced to alight on the main land. Four of them failed to reach the shore and sank. The crew were saved.

ESCAPE FIRE FOR ROCKNE

By JIMMY CORCORAN
International News Service Staff Writer

South Bend, Ind., April 2 (INR)—A heart-city city and a reverent alma mater paid hushed tribute today to Knute K. Rockne.

In a chapel along one of South Bend's usually bustling business streets the warrior rested. Within the sanctuary, heaped with flowers, men of Notre Dame stood as sentinels. Traffic moved in slow tempo.

Since the early morning hours hundreds had gathered outside of the chapel seeking a chance to pay their respects. As the noon hour approached sidewalks and streets in the vicinity were almost impassable.

Business in this community that knew Rockne and his triumphs so well was practically at a standstill. Some of the merchants planned to close their shops.

Out on the campus at Notre Dame the Rev. Charles O'Donnell, president of the university, met scores of former students who had not been on the grounds for years.

It is estimated that 30,000 refugees are living in tents in the hills.

The Marines appeared to have the situation well in hand. An abundance of food and medical supplies was arriving and three hospitals to be enough to care for the injured.

Indispensable aid was given them by Mrs. M. E. Magallon of Detroit, wife of a marine lieutenant; Mrs. F. B. Blanton, of Dallas, Tex., wife of a captain, and Mrs. Jackson, of Boston, wife of a first lieutenant.

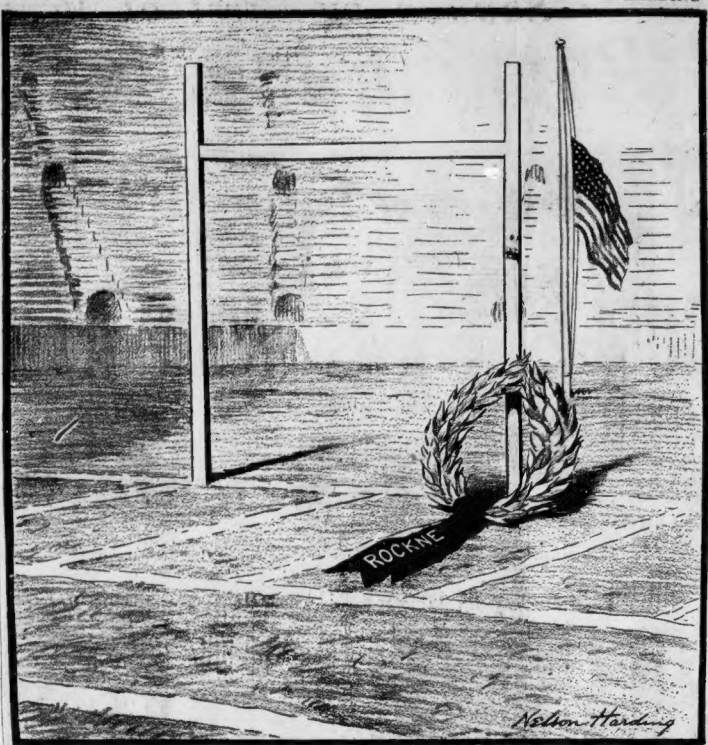

Another baby was born early today, making a total of three in the field hospital which was set up in the Camp de Marte on the edge of the city, the American headquarters.

HOOPER THANKS BIG INDUSTRIES FOR SUPPORT

Appreciates Maintenance of Wage Scales During the Nation's Business Depression

Washington, April 2 (AP)—President Hoover was described at the White House today as highly pleased that the leading industries of the country have stood by him in maintaining wage scales during the business recession.

PROF. DEWING F HARVARD IN $2,000,000 POWER MERGER

ELECTRIC BOND TAKES OVER HIS FIRM

25 New Hampshire Companies Controlled by Him Figure in Big Deal

Prof. Arthur Stone Dewing of Harvard today became a big figure in the nation's power field as a result of a $2,000,000 merger of New Hampshire companies controlled by him with a subsidiary of the huge Electric Bond & Share Co.

In a dozen years the Harvard professor, whose salary at Cambridge is $5,000 a year, has emerged from obscurity to this high position in the nation's business.

Twenty-five New Hampshire power companies, which he controls, have been taken over by the International Public Utilities Co. of New York and Prof. Dewing becomes a stockholder and director in this corporation.

His rise has been marked by his independence of large banking interests, all his transactions, leading to control of the New Hampshire companies, being conducted through the assistance of small local banks.

STOCK FOR STOCK DEAL
The merger was described by him today as an exchange of stock for stock with a few thousands of dollars cash payment by the New York interests.

Prof. Dewing said he made no profit on the deal and that it was simply a natural development since he came to New Hampshire to control the New Hampshire companies which had been put on a paying basis.

All the employees of the New Hampshire companies have been notified that they will not lose their jobs through the transaction. The assets of the New Hampshire companies total $2,000,000, with liabilities of an undated amount to offset these.

The companies serve about 50 communities, including North Conway, Meredith, Plymouth and Alton, and about a year ago were combined with the White Mountain Power Co.

EXPERT IN FINANCE
Prof. Dewing is married and lives on Waverley ave., Newton, with his wife and four children. He is in the economics department at Harvard, an expert on finance and railroads, and has written books on other subjects, including chemistry and physics.

His entrance into the power field was made several years ago and his career has been marked with a general reduction of rates, accompanied by increased efficiency and improved service.

Lowell Man Held in Citizenship Fraud
Charged with using the findings of another, immigrant to support his own petition for citizenship, Jan Wywierski of Reed's c. Lowell, pleaded not guilty in federal court today and was released under $500 bail for trial later.

Mrs. McKenna of Lakeview, N.H., pleaded not guilty to aiding him and was released on the same amount of bail. Wywierski is alleged to have presented the papers of U. F. Zaknowski, who came to this country several years before he died.

POISON BRINGS HER JOY

Prof. Arthur S. Dewing of Harvard, who has become one of the big figures in the nation's power field as the result of the merger of the White Mountain Power Co.

Boston's "poison pen" cases returned to the news today when a man suspected as the author of 25 threatening letters to prominent men and women was eliminated.

A sample of his handwriting, secretly obtained, proved he was not the author of notes pinned to Mayor Curley, Mrs. Esther Andrews of the Governor's Council, former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols and others, according to police.

One of the letters has been submitted to a New York handwriting expert for analysis.

The receipt of the letters by the citizens was kept secret by police, but since the publication of news on the investigation, no new ones have been received.

The handwriting indicated that they were all written by the same person with a strange quirk for writing false accusations of the most scurrilous.

The Tall Cedars to Install Officers
Opening ceremonies for Boston's chapter of the national masonic fraternity, The Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will be held on Saturday at the Commonwealth Armory, Supreme T. C. Cedar, William A. Brinkman, national leader of the organization, will be here to induct the officers of the new chapter.

Mrs. Madeline Cucchiella, bride of five months, took poison because her husband, Marshall, of Balavia at, Back Bay, started a divorce suit. But she was saved by hospital doctors, and when her husband said he would drop the suit, left the hospital on his arm, happy again. (Staff photo.)

'HAMMER' BOY IS GRILLED BY MENISTS

Assistant Medical Examiner Is Barred From the Room by Drs. Briggs and Bonner

Lawrence, April 2.—His usually pallid cheeks flushed, Russell Noble, alleged hammer slayer of Mrs. Clara E. E. Ellis, Haverhill widow, emerged from the first of a series of sanity tests today, with his composure considerably shaken.

The examination by two State alienists, Dr. L. Vernon Briggs of Boston, and Dr. Clarence A. Bonner, head of Danvers State Hospital, lasted two hours and twenty minutes.

An interesting sidelight was an attempt to be present by Dr. George F. Sargent, assistant medical examiner, who has expressed much interest in the case. He was refused admission by the alienists.

When young Noble came down stairs from the hospital room in the north wing of the jail where the examination took place, he was about evidences of a grilling.

SEEMS NERVOUS
In addition to his flush, he appeared nervous for the first time since he became an inmate of the jail.

By the time he reached the dining hall, where he would see Noble again, in two or three days. It is customary in capital cases to make three examinations a few days apart, the subject being questioned along different lines each time.

GREETED BY PRISONER
Keeper Bunting had everything in readiness for the tests when Dr. Bonner and Dr. Briggs arrived.

The young prisoner greeted them in a friendly way, but was somewhat forward to their visit and displayed an attitude of defiance.

After the examination he did not appear so enthusiastic.

The sanity tests are being made on request of Dist. Atty. Hugh A. McCormick who obtained the order of Atty. McCormick to have them made before indictment. The Essex County grand jury comes in next month and the slaying of Mrs. Ellis will probably be one of the first cases laid before it.

LOSS OF WEIGHT DUE TO ILLNESS, NOT TO LOVE

A loss of weight in 1928 was due to illness and not to pining for Edmund F. O'Hearn, former of Brookline, Mrs. Helen L. Eldridge, Newton society member, divorced in the recent Eldridge divorce case in Middlesex Probate court today.

Mrs. Eldridge and her husband, Joseph T. Eldridge, investment banker who had her divorce decree annulled, were the only witnesses at the hearing before Judge Charles F. Harris.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Eldridge was asked if her loss of weight was not due to her love for O'Hearn, who was named in her husband's original cross divorce "plea," she replied, "It occurred six months after the divorce."

Asked if she had any interest in any other man, Mrs. Eldridge replied, "Yes, my son," to the rejoinder for frivolity, she denied interest in any man.

In her direct testimony Mrs. Eldridge denied statements made by her husband, who with the first wife, on the Bermuda trip she said she and her husband had adjoining rooms in the hotel and that he had been, since the day from New York.

On New Hampshire trip to visit his son in camp, which Eldridge had described, Mrs. Eldridge said they occupied separate rooms in the hotel. She declared she had never lived with Eldridge as husband and wife since Jan. 25, 1928.

NEW ARREST IN MURDER OF NURSE DEATH LOOKS UP

moves on the murder might begin. He was taken into custody and taken to him. With him went Dist. Atty. Crowsley, the state detective. Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Smith and a police stenographer who noted down his every word.

From the house where, he has said, Hathaway came to him and told him he and Miss Russell had been held up by two bandits who attacked him, Galvin went to the speaker in New Boston and a police stenographer who stopped to buy gas on the way to the buy in Tiverton.

TAKEN TO 'MURDER LANE'

This speakeasy is less than a mile from the hospital. There the investigators sought to determine whether, if ever, Galvin had been in the room where the nurse was killed, which is now missing. A witness has been found who says he was wearing it in the speakeasy.

From there the route led across the State line into Rhode Island, along a road which Galvin said he and Hathaway traversed.

The "re-encounter party" left the automobile in Winward lane, where the car was found, and where Galvin was questioned again, and to what Hathaway told him—as to what he said in reply.

From the press the party moved back to Galvin's home. If, as Atty. Gen. McJannet of Rhode Island has stated, Galvin claims to have been at 210 N. March 24, to the home of Rep. Louis Hathaway to tell him his son was in trouble, he was to be taken there later.

Galvin was ordered to take the car to the telephone from which he says he called the Trustee Hospital to learn whether Miss Russell—after he had seen her body—had returned to that institution.

Then he was to be taken back to the courthouse for further grilling. He is under $5000 bonds in Rhode Island as a material witness in the case, but is not under bonds in Massachusetts.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Developments today were:
1—Charge of Atty. Gen. McJannet of Rhode Island that he attempted to bribe an investigator and secure evidence in the case had been made.

2—Efforts to identify a cloth belt found in Watuppa reservation here as that worn by Vern Russell the night she went for a ride with Hathaway.

3—Affidavit of a witness who saw Hathaway and a girl drive toward the Massachusetts reservation at 8:10 on the night of the crime.

4—Attempts to trace a telephone call made by Hathaway, at that time, while the girl sat in his car outside the store where he bought ginger ale.

his car outside the store where he bought ginger ale.

5—Continued search for the Tiverton, R. I., farmhand who told several persons he saw two men carry the body from a car to the spot where it was found.

6—Official denial that analysis of Vern Russell's organs to detect absence of strychnine or absence of alcohol.

Massachusetts pressed its case for jurisdiction of the crime of the murder of the nurse.

STILL UNQUESTIONED

Hathaway, who disappeared for 60 hours after the murder and surrendered to Rhode Island a week ago today while still in Massachusetts, remained unexamined by any legal or police authority in Rhode Island.

Massachusetts officials cannot question him. Rhode Island officials are invited, although a precedent in jurisdiction of a capital case involved and a titanic legal battle is forecast when the case goes to trial—somewhere.

The belt which officials hope to identify as worn by Miss Russell was found yesterday on Watuppa reservation, a favorite parking spot for gamblers, by Detectives Stokes and Ferraro.

The material is black figured chiffon. The new dress worn by the nurse was of the same material. The first time the belt was seen for the first time on the night she met death, she was wearing it.

That dress is in possession of Rhode Island state police. Efforts to identify the belt will be made through them, through the Rhode Island state police, through the Rhode Island state police, through the Rhode Island state police.

TOWARD RESERVATION

New evidence, which is in the form of an affidavit in the hands of the Massachusetts State officer, was given by John T. Skennel, 20, of 317 Prospect st.

His statement followed:
"At about 1 o'clock on the night of Monday, March 23, I was standing with three other fellows in New Boston rd, near the home of Rep. Louis Hathaway, when we saw a car with a Rhode Island license plate, the Highland Star. The others were Keefe, Hennessy and Sheehan."

"Hathaway drove up in his car and parked in front of the store. He got out and went in the drug store. A few minutes he came out again. The car was facing east, pointed toward the reservation."

"Hathaway walked over to the car, got in and drove away, going toward the reservation. There may have been someone in the car with him then. I don't remember seeing anyone."

PHONE CALL TRACED

It is this call that police believe may forge another link in the chain of evidence pointing to a second man being associated with the crime, at least in disposal of the body over the line in the State where there is no debt honesty for murder.

The search for the Tiverton farmhand, who said Saturday in a Fall River barbershop was overheard by a reputable Tiverton citizen to say he saw two men place the body by the roadside, went forward with Police Chief Potter of Tiverton co-operating with the Massachusetts detective.

This man's name is not known in Fall River, but employees of the barbershop knew him by sight as an occasional customer.

The Massachusetts State detective had a busy day yesterday in Tiverton. Dist. Atty. Crowsley was equally busy at the Bristol County courthouse carrying out his part of the program.

Crowsley remained at his office until midnight and several witnesses were questioned. At 10:30 a. m. Crowsley issued the following statement:

STICKS TO THEORY

"We are still working on the theory that the murder of Vern Russell took place in Massachusetts. We didn't get as far today as had been planned. Then, too, there were several important details, in addition to the questioning of witnesses and the picking up of the crime."

Atty. Gen. McJannet said he was in Rhode Island, neither am I ready to say it was in Massachusetts. Considerable of a furor was created at the courthouse last night when Goldberg, attorney for Vern Russell, dashed in and demanded he be allowed to see his client.

He said he had been to Galvin's home and no one seemed to be there. He was told that neither the district attorney nor the Massachusetts state authorities were aware of Galvin's whereabouts, and that he had not been questioned.

At Goldberg was leaving, Dist. Atty. Crowsley called him back and requested him to bring Galvin to the courthouse today for questioning.

"If he does not come here, I will have the Fall River police bring him here," Dist. Atty. Crowsley added.

"Mr. Crowsley can question Galvin any time he wants to," Goldberg said later. "Massachusetts is trying to establish jurisdiction in my opinion. He case is very weak."

While the courthouse, Goldberg asserted that at no time had Atty. Gen. McJannet of Rhode Island made any statement positively placing the jurisdiction of the murder in Rhode Island. He added he had talked with McJannet and both of them had decided that the crime took place in that state.

Goldberg was asked how Galvin had spent his time after 11:30 p. m. on the night of the murder.

"The attorney-general" would account for his movements after that time," he replied. "In his story Galvin has given a full account of his movements after that night, as far as he himself is concerned."

In reply to a question as to whether Galvin wore a blue and white raccoon coat on that Monday night or the following day, Goldberg answered, "I would rather not say."

Four witnesses were questioned last night. One witness was Gene Maigret, of Fall River, a former employee of the Trustee hospital.

where Miss Russell was a student nurse. Dist. Atty. Crowsley announced Maigret's evidence only concerned the friendships made by Miss Russell at the hospital.

John Manning and his wife, Ida Manning, were also questioned. Crowsley stated after their examination that he preferred not to reveal the nature of their statements.

It was regarded as significant that his inquired Mrs. Manning and his wife they would probably be called for further questioning.

The four witnesses were Skennel, Denial that any report, oral or written, had been given him by the State pathologist making an analysis of the girl's organs, was made by Atty. Gen. McJannet. A corroborative denial was made by Dr. Round, the pathologist.

It was reported unofficially by a good authority, yesterday that no trace of alcohol had been found. Following that there was a widely-circulated rumor to the effect that a large amount of strychnine was discovered.

65 MILLION NET FOR HENRY FORD

New York, April 2 (INS)—Henry Ford's Motor Car Company came through 1930 with profits of $55,000,000, according to a copy of the report carried today by the Dow Jones & Co. Financial Agency.

The cash resources of the Ford company are today in excess of $200,000,000, the study stated.

"The company has strengthened its position in a period of declining prices," the study said.

"Ford is secure in the face of outwardly distressing conditions. Production and sales have shown a substantial increase from the 1929 volume and Ford's proportion of the industry's total production has dropped to around 35 per cent from 41 per cent a year ago."

BRIBERY CHARGE IS DROPPED BY ATTORNEY

By JOHN W. ENGLISH

(Boston American Correspondent)

Providence, April 2—An attempt to bribe a public official in connection with the Vern Russell murder evidence was charged today by Atty. Gen. Benjamin H. McJannet.

An investigator had been offered money for evidence, he said.

"Somebody connected with the investigation of this case has been offered money for certain evidence," he said.

"If the offer had been made direct, somebody would be in jail now for attempting to bribe a public official. What happened was pretty close to bribery."

He refused to elaborate upon the matter. Earlier, he had said that an offer of $2000 had been made to Vern V. Galvin, of Fall River, for his story of what he knew of the night of the murder.

SAYS GALVIN HAS ALIBI

Galvin is the close friend of 25-Bolt R. Hathaway, of Fall River, who surrendered to McJannet to be accused of the murder of which both Massachusetts and Rhode Island are seeking jurisdiction.

Atty. Gen. McJannet said, "I don't see any and for arresting him but he could be arrested by Massachusetts police if he wanted to do so."

"The Massachusetts authorities can see him and we can see him. He is at liberty in $5000 bonds as a material witness and he is not under surveillance."

"It would be fine for me if anyone tried to spirit him away. It makes it more humorous if Galvin slips out of my hands."

"I expect Dist. Atty. Crowsley at Fall River to talk with Galvin within 30 hours. After he has talked with him, he will see him."

WON'T LET IT GO

"I will not let Galvin's story out of my personal possession. Dist. Atty. Crowsley may see it at my office but I am unwilling to send a copy to Fall River, as I do not care to have a half dozen public officials look it over, as they might reveal its contents."

WEEK IN JAIL NOW

A week has passed since Hathaway, son of a Massachusetts legislator, surrendered.

Although Rhode Island's claim to jurisdiction in the slaying is under fire by Massachusetts authorities, Hathaway has not been questioned since his arrest except by his own attorney.

Today in the county jail in Howard he was in good spirits. He sleeps and eats well, he said. "I don't believe anyone knows where the coat is," he said. "Capt. Jonathan Harwood of the state police is trying to find it in Boston or New York."

Newport court. Failure of Rhode Island authorities to question the young man who is secretary of the Fall River Republican club committee, has raised a storm of protest over the head of Atty. Gen. McJannet.

The cry of politics has been raised in connection with the case and the names of persons high in political circles in Rhode Island have been mentioned in connection with alleged distasteful tactics.

Those criticizing the state's failure to subject Hathaway to a rigid examination—"in examination" might clear up in short order the question of jurisdiction now delaying progress toward trial-point to the speed with which these slays was grilling following his arrest last summer.

CHAMPION DOGS LOSE LIVES IN SHREWSBURY

Shrewsbury, April 2 (AP)—Five international champion terriers and other prize-winning dogs were burned to death in a fire that destroyed Welwie Kennels, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Gage's world famous breeding place for wire-haired fox terriers, early today, with a total loss of 25 of the blooded animals.

Seventeen other dogs, housed in individual kennels removed from the main building, escaped the flames.

Brandy Snap, $4000 world champion, recently imported from England, was among the dogs which escaped. Brandy Snap and two other animals were in the home of Joseph Booth, superintendent of the kennels.

Estimates placed the damage between $75,000 and $100,000, although the loss may mount higher, $75,000 TO $100,000.

Five international champions were in the list of casualties, including Dunsing, Duplicitator, Wing of Earlsmoor, Diamond Merchant, all Welsh terriers, and Wyckoff Wonder, winner of the award for the best wire-haired fox terrier. Welwie Wizard and Welwie Waterman, also renowned in bench show circles, were also destroyed.

The cause of the fire, which spread rapidly through the 200 foot long building, has not as yet been determined.

MEDALS AND RIBBONS LOST. Besides the prize-winning dogs and the elaborate kennels, the dogs' collection of medals and ribbons with an intrinsic value of $5000 was lost.

Dr. and Mrs. Gage are traveling in Europe, and have not yet been notified of their loss. Dr. Gage is a wealthy retired surgeon. The kennels were a memorial to his son, Homer Gage, Jr.

Mrs. Gage is well known for her philanthropies, among them the donation of a $100,000 chapel to Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

Saratoga, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Police were battered about the head and tear gas was used today in a clash in the Dodge colony of the Glen Alden Coal Co. West Saratoga.

The riot started when pickets from Wilkes Barre came here to request local workers to join their unannounced strike. Tear gas failed to disperse the crowd and firemen used hose and water.

A Motor Fuel with New Sensational Power

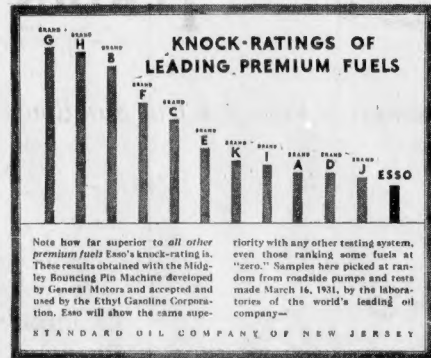

TODAY the world's leading premium motor fuel goes on sale all over New England and New York State at Colonial stations and dealers. A motor fuel that gives new power to your car—and an entirely new "feel" to driving.

Esso is unlike any motor fuel you have ever used. A glance at the chart below will show—not the difference between Esso and ordinary gasoline—but the striking difference between Esso and other premium fuels!

Performance results with Esso are instant. You'll notice the difference in any car. In the modern high-compression motor, Esso frequently delivers as high as 20% more power than is possible with ordinary gasoline. In addition, it offers quicker starting, far smoother pick-up, and less crankcase dilution, due to its special clean-burning qualities.

Esso contains Ethyl—but it is far more than an Ethyl fuel only. The initial base of Filling up with Esso at Sarcelles, France, 11 miles out of Paris on the road to Chantilly. An actual photograph taken Feb. 23, 1931. Already Esso pumps dot twenty foreign countries, and now they line American highways from Maine to Louisiana. Car-owners in France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Poland, Malta, Tunisia, Algeria, Cuba, Porto Rico, Nassau, B. L., Martinique, Guatemala and British Honduras, as well as in the United States, choose Esso when they want the best.

Esso, in fact, is what makes it so radical an advance. So great is the difference that the success of this new-type fuel has now spread to twenty foreign countries—as well as over a large area of the United States. In some sections, in fact, Esso is already used by more motorists than any other gasoline, regardless of price.

The greatest achievement of the world's leading oil refiners, Esso is sold in New England and New York State through Colonial stations and dealers only. We urge you to make a ten-day test without delay. COLONIAL BEACON OIL CO., INC.

GET THESE ADVANTAGES IN YOUR CAR

- NEW SENSATIONAL POWER. Even before Ethyl fluid is added, Esso is refined to a point reached by no other fuel. Result: up to 20% more power in new high-compression engines; better driving results in any motor.
- QUICKER STARTING. Quick starting depends upon the amount of gasoline vaporized at the low temperatures. Tests at the 158° point show approximately 35% greater vaporization with Esso than with the average of the 12 other leading premium fuels.
- SAVES YOUR MOTOR. Every time your engine knocks (even though you do not hear it) you do more than lose power. You get the hardest kind of engine wear. Esso saves your motor by giving the lowest of all knock-ratings.
- NO CRANKCASE DILUTION. When gasoline is not completely vaporized, it seeps into the crankcase, diluting lubricants. Esso's "final-boiling point" or "end-point" is equalled by only two other Ethyl motor fuels. This means that it completely vaporizes at temperatures at which most other fuels are still partly liquid.
- COSTS NO MORE PER MILE. Esso, per gallon, costs slightly more than ordinary non-Ethyl fuels. But most former users of these fuels report that Esso gives greater mileage, and with its reduction of repair expenses, costs no more per mile in a year's running.

GERMANS ENVY BROADCASTS FROM CAPITAL

Washington, April 2 (AP)—From an outside ledge rimming the dome of the Capitol, 180 feet in the air, a radio program was broadcast today direct to the people of Germany.

Ambassador von Prittwitz-Gaf-forn of Germany, Senator Wagner of New York and J. Theodore Marin-ner, chief of the division of western European affairs of the State Department, were the principal speakers. Each sounded a note of good will between the American and German governments.

The program was broadcast in English and German. It went by land wire to Schenectady, through short waves to Germany. Party politicians in this country and America carried the words of the speakers over western Europe.

St. H. Helmut, Germany's roving radio reporter, was master of ceremonies.

The German ambassador said the task of those who work for mutual understanding and friendly relations between the two peoples "cannot be better promoted than through frequent radio broadcasts between here and there across the Atlantic."

LAST PLEA MADE FOR BROTHERS

Chicago, April 2 (AP)—Attor-ney Louis Piquett, pleading with a jury to set Leo Brothers free on the charge of murder of Alfred "Babe" Lingie, said today his arrest was the result of a "great mistake."

Piquett said Lingie, Pat Roche, chief investigator for the State's attorney's office, and State Appellate, Kentucky turnman, who identified Brothers as the man who tossed a gun near Lingie's body, were the "Three Musketeers, known companions."

Piquett was the only man that Roche and the million dollar prosecution could find, Piquett said, who would say he saw Brothers in the tunnel.

Piquett mentioned the race horse "Hot Time" which Applegate said he raced and which was owned by his wife.

"Every turnman in the country knows that Hot Time is owned by Terry Druggan," said the attorney, but the remark was stricken from the record.

Every attorney on the prosecution side shouted his objection when Piquett said John Stige, former detective commander, and a state witness, "got his job from Lingie." This remark was also stricken from the record.

All Work and No Pay Makes a Farmer

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Henry Ford is going to keep his mechanics busy all year round by putting them on farms in the summer.

Six months work for Henry. Six months on the farm. A total of six months in all.

It's a good idea. After a man spends six months on a farm he will be glad to get back to some job where he gets paid for the work.

Bill Wrigley also goes in for farm products by having a million pounds of cotton. The South can reciprocate by dedicating an old chewing gum week.

This should speed up big business. Andy Mellon could fall in line by letting us print his treasury certificates on rainy days and allowing us to spend them when the sun shines.

V's don't know how the farmers will fall for the Ford plan of summer workmen. Now they will have to pay the city folks instead of charging them room and board.

It's a good plan if it works. And Hank never had one that didn't with the exception of a peace ark or two.

MARTIAL EASTER IN HOLY LAND

Jerusalem, April 2 (AP)—Easter will be celebrated here under the muzzle of machine guns and with armored cars patrolling the streets. Fearing clashes between pro-Mufti and anti-Mufti forces from Hebron during the Moslem feast of Nablus, which begins today and lasts until April 10, authorities are taking precautions.

The anti-Mufti party is dissatisfied with the distribution by Moslem authorities of the fund for relief of the distress caused by the 1929 Hebron riots, and feeling has been running high.

Street Lights Give Way to Lanterns at Bow, N. H.

Bow, N. H., April 2 (AP)—Oil lanterns blinked along Bow's streets last night as the community dispensed with a modern improvement, street lights, in the cause of economy.

The citizens some time ago, at annual town meeting, decided to make an appropriation for street lighting. A special town meeting will be held Saturday to give voters a chance to provide a new lighting fund.

Masterpiece Found in Italian Village

Naples, Italy, April 2 (EN)—A hitherto unknown "Madonna and Child," by Botticelli, has been discovered in a small village not far from here. The authenticity of the painting has been established by the superintendent of art in Naples.

The masterpiece is painted on wood and measures 32 inches by 22. It reminds strongly of the beautiful "Magnificat Madonna" at the Paris Louvre.

GAR WOOD SEES 120-MILE SPEED

Havana, April 2 (EN)—The day is not far off when man will drive a speed boat 120 miles per hour and possibly more, in the opinion of Gar Wood, the "Gray Fox" of speed-boating and holder of the world's record. He sees no limit to the speed man can attain on water, and believes that as power increases in proportion to the weight of the motor, so will the speed develop beyond anything man has yet accomplished with a power boat.

Wood, who recently smashed all existing speed records in his Miss America over the Biscayne course at Miami Beach, where he drove his craft 100 miles per hour in spending a brief vacation in Havana, before returning to Detroit to prepare for the Harmsworth trophy race.

Print Frocks to Enliven Wardrobe

By ANN ARDEN

LIKE THE proverbial appearance of the first robin, the annual return of the print dress is a welcome sight. There's nothing quite like it for the early spring under a dark coat, and later to flaunt its bright colors in the warm sunshine. Besides, it's the most practical frock in a woman's wardrobe, and will stand more wear and still look fresh and new than almost any other garment.

EACH YEAR the print dress varies its aspect with some new ideas apropos of the season's trend. This spring the difference lies in the print itself rather than the silhouette. Designs are more subtle, colors are gay and details are more interesting and unusual.

IN THE great spring color race, brown has suddenly come to the fore as one of the smartest shades—all because it offers such great opportunity for striking contrast.

THERE NEED no longer be any wondering as to whether brown and white is an important combination. Everywhere you turn you find brown triumphing white or vice versa. The combination is strikingly achieved in the three-piece suit pictured. The skirt and jacket are of brown, while the blouse is white, the blouse collar spotted in white, the blouse white, dotted in brown.

KNIFE PLEATS front and back, and plain sides, from yoke distinguish the skirt. The jacket is a cardigan type, with tuxedo fold front, and belt of material. The blouse is a simple style, with fitted yoke, from a smart design of Schiaparelli, has short sleeves and roll collar. The hat is a Mado model in Rayon, a shiny, but soft and pliable straw, also toned brown. A Venetian adaptation, it has very shallow crown, its brim clasped in twin gardenias one side. The bag is of brown calf, with white pin and marking upped section. The washable white kid gloves have brown trim, and brown stitching. Chalk

BOB PARTIES PLANNED TO AVOID RTAX RAMP

Washington, April 2 (AP)—The co-operation of both major parties in the next Congress was looked for today to prevent a federal tax increase.

Responsible party leaders in both the House and Senate have expressed opposition to increasing taxes to meet the expected $900,000,000 deficit this year and the probability of another next year.

To balance receipts and expenditures the budget for the 1932-33 fiscal year will be kept to a maximum. Budget Director Ross made this promise after Chairman Jones of the Senate Appropriations Committee asked a clearing of government expense estimates.

Jones said he believed at the next session "Democrats will be as anxious as Republicans to keep down expenditures."

He denied that Congress has been extravagant, since only once in eight years had it exceeded budget estimates. He predicted the new assembly could keep below the $500,000,000 mark because no more money would be needed for the Farm Board.

Income tax collections for the first nine months of this fiscal year were $200,000,000 below the $1,800,000,000 for the same period last year. Since not more than $350,000,000 is expected from this source in the next three months it is estimated total income tax collections will be around $1,850,000,000 as compared with $2,410,000,000 last year.

Port of Boston

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Passengers and commerce from foreign ports to the Port of Boston showed an increase in March over the corresponding month last year, statistics made available today by the United States Customs Service office, showed.

During the month just closed, 122 steamers, four schooners and one airplane entered from foreign ports, as against 112 steamers and one airplane during the same month in 1930.

A total of 1509 passengers landed here from foreign ports, which included 154 from Europe, 30 from Newfoundland, 84 from Canada and 451 from the West Indies during March of 1931. Contrasting figures for 1930 show that 1542 passengers landed here from foreign ports, of which 228 came from Europe, 97 from Newfoundland, 177 from Canada and 50 from the West Indies.

BOSTON BACK

Docking an hour in advance of her regular schedule, despite adverse weather, the steamer Boston, which is one of the twin twin "Tuscan" of the Eastern Steamship Co., that has the regular Boston-New York runs during the summer months, docked here for her first trip back to this port this season. She carried 210 passengers.

RECORD FROM HUB

Fastest passage ever made by a freighter in the international trade was being up by the steamer Edvard Luckenbach, which left here March 4 to finish loading at New York for Pacific Coast ports. She made a 18 day 20 hour and 38 minute passage to Los Angeles.

DR. DEAN'S SPY CASE

A Reporter's Story of

Era Crime

By BERT FORD

Reporter

Washington, April 2 (INS)—The model primary school that will be built here will be officially known as Phoebe Apperson Hearst in memory of the mother of William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, who founded the kindergarten system here and was cofounder of the National Parent-Teachers Association.

The District Board of Education by unanimous vote, was on record today in naming the new school in honor of the late Mrs. Hearst.

HONOR IS DENIED
Mr. Philip Sidney Smith, chairman of the special committee naming new schools, presented the committee's recommendation.

The recommendation had been brought to the board two weeks ago by a joint committee from the Cathedral Heights-Cleveland Park, Richmond Park and North Cleveland Park associations, headed by J. McGarry.

"The prominent part Mrs. Hearst played in helping to build up Washington's school system has made it a logical name for this school."

READY TO FALL
It is a fitting memorial to her splendid championship of the early educational system and the fact she played a part in it to what it has become today.

Phoebe Apperson Hearst will include an eight-acre playground, and a 16-acre playground. It is scheduled to be ready for occupancy next fall and is to be one of the finest of the district elementary schools.

Mrs. Hearst, who died April 11, 1918, was the wife of William Randolph Hearst of California. She was deeply interested in the schools of the capital and was one of the founders of the National Cathedral Heights-Cleveland Park Association.

When the first parent-teacher organization was formed, Mrs. Hearst financed its first meeting.

Previous instalments told of the murder of Dr. William Kendrick Dean, slain in the Boston of the fashionable woman colony complained of mysterious signal lights and spy activities.

Dr. Dean was slain at midnight on the day he asked a woman neighbor to go to the Federal authorities in Boston and tell them to send one of their best men to see him at once.

The first real autopsy was not performed on the body of Dr. William Kendrick Dean until he had been buried five months, and then not until demanded by the coroner.

The victim was buried August 17, 1918, and the coroner's inquest was held August 30, and placed in a receiving tomb in the little cemetery in East Jaffrey, by order of his brother, Frederic Dean of New York.

NO INQUEST HELD
Photographs of the uncut body were taken about the autopsy, clasp-shaped wound on the neck, his temple and forehead, as one of the finest of the district elementary schools.

GAIN NOTED IN WATER TRAVEL

Montreal, April 2.—Another satisfactory report of the steamship operation by the Canadian Pacific will be brought to a close when the 1931 winter season terminates four weeks from now, present indications show. A voyage-for-voyage comparison reveals that passenger earnings have not only been well established, but in some instances show an increase.

Third class passengers traveling eastbound outturn considerably those of the winter season of 1929-30, and there is a prospect of a further increase by the time the season closes, owing to the lower first class round trip rates in effect since March 2.

BLACK HILLS TO BE MECCA OF TOURISTS

Travel to the Black Hills of South Dakota will show an increase this summer over 1929, it is estimated, and inquiries are very certain.

The Chicago & North Western Railway is receiving requests for information much earlier than usual. C. A. Cairns, passenger traffic manager, announced:

"With a program of special rates, the railroad is expected to have a record number of tourists in years and with new 'sevens' All-Expense' tours planned through June, July and August, the communities of the hills are making plans to entertain thousands."

The event starts July 2 with the famous Black Hills Roundtrip at $10.00, which will be followed by the water carnival at Rapid River, which will be held July 12-14, Gold Discovery Days at Lead, July 25-27; Broadwood's Colored Days of '76, August 2-4 and 8, Sugar Day at Vale, August 11, Bonafide Day at the world's largest gold mine, Lead, September 1, and the River Fair, Rapid City, September 7, 8 and 9.

The Chicago & North Western inaugurated all-expense tours to the hills in 1929 starting in July and they proved so popular that we have decided to start them a month earlier in 1931.

MANY OTHER FEATURES

While events will attract a large amount of tourists, the hills' natural entertainment features, which include archery, fishing, trout fishing and golf, will draw far more.

"Many tourists will also be interested in watching the progress of the work on the National Monument on Mount Rushmore. The head of Washington was completed last year."

PEPPER HEADS SMITH FIGHT

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Justice Department officials today serve notice they would support "as vigorously as they know how" the appointment of Chairman Smith of the power commission, whose confirmation the Senate attempted to recall.

Announcement followed closely that by Smith that former Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, would represent him in the legal contest.

The Senate appointed John W. Davis, former Democratic Presidential candidate, to represent it in the test of its right to recall confirmation. President Hoover declined to return Smith's name to the Senate.

Atty-Gen. Mitchell today said federal attorneys would "give to the case the thorough attention which its importance deserves."

LYNN GARMEN REJECT CUT

Two hundred Lynn women refused today to accept the 10 per cent wage decrease proposed by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

Two speeches were presided over by Benjamin Rimpson, president of the Lynn Street Carmen's Union, but the men remained adamant in their refusal to take a cut in salaries.

In a general request to cities and towns taking the Eastern Massachusetts Railway, carmen have been asked to take the same decrease.

The Lynn union is the first organization to announce the result of its discussion of the issue.

The meetings of the Lynn group were held in Labor Temple last night and today public announcement was made of their refusal to accept the terms of the company.

Soy Beans, 1 Pound, Good as 2 Pounds of Beefsteak

New York, April 2—In one pound of soy beans there is as much nourishment as in two pounds of beefsteak.

To be more accurate, one pound of any beans contains the equivalent of two pounds of the proteins and fat in beef.

Dr. A. A. Hovarth, biochemist, points out that soy bean protein is the main ingredient in a well-known dark sauce. Soy beans are generally eaten by certain peoples of the Far East, particularly the Chinese and Japanese.

The proteins of these beans, according to Hovarth, are easily assimilated by man, almost as easily as most proteins.

LOVE VIA PHONE IS EXPENSIVE

New York, April 2 (AP)—Edna Best, the actress who recently gave Hollywood the poby in the middle of a scene without saying a word to anyone, came forward today with a story of matrimony.

She is rehearsing with the Shubert show "Melo," which means no more Hollywood for a spell, at least.

She fled the movie city after a series of tender coast-to-coast telephone conversations with her husband, Herbert Marshall, and after one call the operator said to her: "I thought you would like to know, Miss Best, that that cost $5."

Smiles Win For Mary In Make-Believe

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO PAR Mary Lou Thomson, a beautiful and vivacious girl of the "home" type, orphaned by the death of her parents, lives with her aunt and uncle, Clara and Howard Sanderson. The former is private secretary to a publisher, and the latter an engineer. Larry Mitchell, energetic young newspaper reporter, is Mary Lou's and Sanderson's a wonderful business chance to go to the Orient and take his wife as secretary. Mary Lou is to stay temporarily with Grandma Jennings, Clara's mother. Larry is eager to marry Mary Lou and take care of her, but Mary Lou convinces him they are merely good pals and asks him to help her get a job. She applies at the Lorrimer's and is claimed by the son of the house as his war bride, named "Delight." Mary Lou qualifies as companion for Travers starts the task of bringing him out of shell-shock.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

By FAITH BALDWIN
Author of "The Office Wife,"
"Alimony" and Other Famous Stories.

LARRY WAS AGOG. There is no word for it. He pleaded, demanded and questioned, but Mary Lou, who, if truth must be told, was rather enjoying herself by mystifying him, was adamant. He would get a letter from her tomorrow, she said, and would say no more.

Found Stamps

After that she telephoned Oakland and had a terrible time making Gram Jennings understand where she was and that she was all right and was going to stay. The old lady was afraid of the telephone and privately confessed it was an invention of the devil and only Clara's insistence some years ago had resulted in her having it installed. But finally she was made aware of the fact that Mary Lou had procured an excellent position, as companion, the one she had hoped for, and Larry would be down sometime during the next day to relieve Mrs. Jennings of the trouble of expressing the trunk, and Mary Lou promised, after sending her love to Billy, to call up every few days and find out how that young man might be. And finally, exhausted after Aunt Adelaide kept shouting questions in her mother's ear—Mary Lou replaced the telephone—she wasn't wisely used to the French kind, anyway, and found herself talking into the receiver several times—and, going to the desk in the living room, drew out ten and paper and proceeded to write many pages to Larry, in an explanation of what, as she put it, she seemed to be "in for."

She found stamps, plenty of them, even five-cent and special delivery, for Mrs. Lorrimer had not been idle in providing her "daughter" with everything for convenience and comfort. She stamped and addressed the envelopes, and presently Miss Delight knocked at the door to say that Mrs. Lorrimer expected her downstairs. "In the morning room, Miss Delight," said Hilda, without a quiver of her eyelids.

Mary Lou Signed

Going downtown, Mary Lou Lorrimer, specially selected for her new name, she thought, ruefully. "It doesn't suit me. I should be blonde and willowy and perhaps like little Miss Mary Lou. I've had it so long, but I'm going to forego it. I can't play at being Delight Harford unless I make myself believe I am," she thought fervently.

Mrs. Lorrimer's maid evidently thought so too.

"No more Mary Lou," she said. "You'll have to get used to the other name. It is necessary, you know. How many lumps, Dr. Light?" asked Mrs. Lorrimer, with perfect gravity.

Mary Lou laughed and then stopped.

"It is an understatement," she admitted. "It won't be hard on you, but I don't know Mary Lou very long, and I've been Mary Lou for twenty years! I wrote continued on Page 15, Column 4

Gov. Ely addressing the Advertising Club of Boston at its banquet at the Statler endorsed the plan to provide $100,000 for a campaign to advertise the industrial and scenic advantages of the State. The picture shows John C. Nicodemos, chairman of the banquet committee; Gov. Ely, Louis B. Gibbs, president of the club, and Chester L. Campbell.

ELY ENFORSES STATE AD FUND

Speaking at a luncheon of the Advertising Club of Boston today Gov. Ely endorsed the plan to provide $100,000 for an advertising campaign by the state. He also outlined his program of providing public relief with extensive public works.

Referring to the present depression, Gov. Ely said: "We can do one of two things, actively resign and let the world go by, taking it as the state, or we can become alive and awake with the aid of the Commonwealth and attract new industry here. I am heartily in accord with the bill to provide $100,000 for a general advertising campaign on the part of the Massachusetts citizens, industry and every."

Referring to his campaign of additional public works, Gov. Ely said the public works department was the largest industry of the state and could be a big factor in bringing about a return of prosperity. "Money raising is reduced," he said, "I want to utilize those two advantages and the credit of the Commonwealth in building the things we need now. I believe in paying for them with the credit of the state, not less than five and preferably ten years."

"Then with the return of prosperity next year I pledge that the watershed of the administration will be economy."

"I have seen a general trend in new ideas which would lead to the conclusion that we are embarked on a period of almost despondency. I take little credence in those apocalyptic visions. Prior to Nov. 4 we were told we only had to remain optimistic, and, with a little prodding by the Republican party, there would be a general revival."

"Property is as much around the corner as it was prior to November—but we don't know just how far away the corner may be, perhaps three months, perhaps six months, perhaps next spring."

"If I read the signs correctly the apostrophe of gloom will be dissipated by the return of prosperity in a very few months. I believe we are already on the upgrade."

Governor Ely was introduced by Chester L. Campbell, Dr. A. MacDonald, Berthold of the University of Hamburg, who had been host to the Advertising Club in Hamburg two years ago, was presented at the luncheon.

State Department Heads Hit by Bill

The Legislature today passed a bill aimed at restricting the powers of department and commission heads, who, Rep. Edward J. Kelley said, have grown autocratic in controlling their departments.

"The heads of utility commissions suddenly have grown to be a power unto themselves," said Rep. Kelley. "This bill, which would take away from them the right to make rules governing their departments, is badly needed."

RAILING BY I.C.C. IS APPROVED BY COURT

Railroad Claims Value Set for Rate-Making Ignored the Terminal Rights

The New Haven road today lost its petition before the District of Columbia Supreme Court for a mandamus to compel the Interstate Commerce Commission to ascertain the value of the line's property rights in terminal facilities at New York and Boston in valuing the road, according to dispatches from Washington.

The railroad applied for the writ in July, 1928, and forthwith in the petition the Commission reported the value of company's property for rate-making purposes at $25,000,000, denying the road any valuation for its terminal and other properties.

It was the railroad's contention that if allowances were made for the company's interests in the Grand Central Terminal in New York and the South Station in Boston the value of its property would be considerably enhanced.

In denying the petition, Justice Wheat declared the Commission had not erred in declining to include the terminal rights in a valuation of the road's property, and that if an error had been made, the court was powerless to compel a correction by mandamus.

Directed Verdict in $20,000 Suit

Judge James A. Lowell in Federal Court today entered a directed verdict in favor of the defendant in the $20,000 damage suit brought by Catherine V. Joseph of Somerville against the Railway Express agency, on the ground that the express company is a Delaware corporation and outside the jurisdiction of the court.

The suit arose out of injuries said to have been suffered when the plaintiff was struck by a truck belonging to the company.

BLAME SHIFTED WOMAN FOILS A IN RAIL WRECK POLITE GUNMAN

Overthrowing the reports of its own inspectors, the Public Utilities Commission today removed most of the blame for the Roadkill train wreck of January 19 from the shoulders of Engineer George O. Gladding of Providence.

Gladding was blamed by the inspectors as by railroad officials, the latter.

The commissioners made a perfunctory inspection at the scene and laid most of the blame on a tower man, whom they did not name, for "lack of direction."

The conclusion that the engineer disregarded signals and made no effort to reduce his speed until he saw a nearer signal is not concurred in by the commission, the report said.

"We think that the direction exercised by the towerman was extremely stupid in that he permitted the local train to cross over at the time a high-speed express was due."

The commission also criticized the dismantling of the signal at the junction before the new signal replaced it was in service, citing that the blades were misaligned at both ends and, naturally, were not seen by the engineer.

LYNN HOME FOR AGED CALLED 'FIRE TRAP'

State Authorities Urge Immediate Repairs to Building Housing 130 Inmates

The Lynn Infirmary in Boston st., housing 130 aged and infirm men and women, was condemned as a "veritable fire trap" today by State authorities conducting an investigation of Lynn public buildings as an aftermath of the disastrous Lenox Hotel fire three weeks ago.

Harold J. McCann, State fire inspector, in a letter to Mayor J. Paul Haney, ordered widespread and immediate repairs to safeguard the lives of the inmates, who are city charges.

Among the ordered improvements were new fire escapes, in some cases replacement of obsolete fire escapes by brick-climbed stairways, new steel ceilings, additional means of access and a new sprinkling system.

U.S. NEEDS WINE SAYS BARONESS

There's too much splash and too much show to American parties, and not enough wine," says Baroness de Kirkpatrick of Paris, wife of the late literary giant, who is now in Boston visiting cousins.

"People here are so funny when they entertain," said the blonde baroness under her chic black veil.

"They give you plenty to eat, there are all kinds of beautiful flowers, lovely music, lots of interesting people, but no wine. Oh, yes, gallons of that stuff you call gin, but no champagne," she sherry.

"It's wine that makes a party. In Paris we don't have flowers and music and scores of interesting people. We have a simple meal and our wine. That's all we need for a party."

"It wouldn't be right for me to say I haven't enjoyed myself here, because people have been very kind to me and have entertained me in their grandest fashion. But I'm happy to go back to Paris, where parties and dinners are simple and where the host and hostess are so much more than just a name."

HAM TASTES BETTER WHEN BOILED OR BAKED WITH SUGAR

Sugar Combines Ideally with Sally Tang of Smoked Ham

There are few meats that can surpass ham in taste-appeal and popularity. When it comes from the oven glazed with sugar and doctored with cloves, it is tantalizing to have in wait for a pink, savory-sweet slice.

To develop the flavor of ham to the utmost, put half a cup of sugar and half a cup of vinegar in the water in which your ham or whole ham simmers. Then after the ham is tender let it remain in the water until cool. The result is a delicious, savory flavor.

Ham, however, is but one of the many foods where sugar can be used to advantage. In seasoning meat stews and pot-roasts, canned or fresh vegetables, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt greatly improves the flavor. Salt by itself merely overcomes fatness. It is the sugar that "brings out" the flavor. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

PURE DICTION PRESCRIBED IN MANUAL

In the Language of the Road, Traffic Cops Must Cut Out Rough Stuff

The bureau for street traffic research at Harvard has put out a manual in an effort to elevate the conversation of traffic cops. The purpose is to induce the cops to cut out the rough stuff and "talk English."

"Whadda ya think you're driving—a fire truck?" and "This ain't no speedway, bud," are looked upon as very bad form. The proper approach, the manual suggests, is for the officer to say: "You very sorry, sir, but you were driving 45 miles an hour and I shall be obliged to give you a summons."

Doublets officers throughout America will hail the suggestion with delight and put it into immediate effect.

NEW AUTO RISK LAW IS URGED

A move to repeal the present compulsory automobile insurance law was voted today at the State House by the joint legislative committee on insurance, with only one dissent on the committee of 11.

The committee voted in favor of the enactment of legislation on the financial responsibility and demerit system, recommended in a petition of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce.

Under such a system an operator of a motor vehicle must be financially responsible in case of an accident, but would not be required to carry demerit insurance before he has had one accident.

While the bill for the proposed legislation has not been drawn, it is understood that a board of inquiry would be provided to include the commissioner of public works and an assistant attorney-general to determine the financial responsibility.

Lack of the latter would bar the driver forever from the Massachusetts roads.

Other details to be formulated include rates of increases after each accident under the demerit system.

They are being worked out by Senator John D. Mackay of Quincy, Representative Elliot Woodworth of Boston and Representative R. Farnum Smith of Concord.

REMBRANDT TO K. BY BURROUGHS

A Harvard expert today took to the defense of Rembrandt's self-portrait in New York, recently adjudged a "fake" by Dr. Maximilian Toch, authority on the chimeras of artists and canvases.

In a reading to the Colonial Arts Association at the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts, Alvin Burroughs, head of the Pease Museum of Harvard, and his X-ray examination had shown their exhibit to be a splendid portrait by the great Dutch master.

Dr. Toch 10 days ago questioned the authenticity of this and several other Rembrandts.

His opinions as professor of the chemistry of artistic painting for the National Academy of Design, raised a stir among art lovers in New York and Boston, and prompted the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to remove one of three Rembrandts on exhibition there until authenticity was established.

Stockholders Becoming Boss of Managers

Executives, Directors Face Evolution; Must Give Full Reports
—By R. C. Forbes—

New York, April 2.—American stockholders are beginning to make executives and boards of directors sit up and take notice.

A number of important companies have been advised by their stockholders to make full reports on their management.

In this country, the stockholder has long been a passive investor.

But now, the stockholder is becoming more active.

Signs multiply that executives and directors are not to be trusted.

For example, half-a-dozen of the largest corporations have been advised by their stockholders to make full reports on their management.

Other signs showing how the stockholder is becoming more active.

It is now to be seen that the average stockholder is taking more interest in the management of the company.

MAKES BIG BOSTON STOCK FEATURE

Boston Elevated trading was the big feature on the Boston Stock Exchange today.

Activity in "L" shares was based on action of the Metropolitan A. E. Committee in reporting out a bill providing for a 15-year extension of the "L" shares.

This would cut the common dividend from 10 to 5 percent and make some provisions for retiring the preferred shares.

Despite legislative setbacks in past years, the State Street biller insists that something may be done this year.

Some think the common stock would sell well above the current market.

Boston Elevated sold up a point. Warren Bros. sagged over a point. United Shoe was off a major fraction to a new bottom on the move.

Toomey Gets Last Laugh on Dazzler, Who Used to Rulin

Bill's Pet Peaks Takes Turtle Back From the Diamond.

A BIT ON SAGE OF NOTRE DAME

WAIT UNTIL Dazzy Vance goes on the mound for the Robins against the Braves in the opening game one week from next Tuesday. Wait until the Dazzler sees the surprise he is going to get. Groundkeeper Bill Toomey has an April Fool's Day joke, which is so good he is holding out a fortnight to spring on the Dazzler.

You see Bill and the Dazzler are ancient enemies. Every time Toomey sees Vance coming up, Bill starts teasing him. Vance's the perfectly good pitcher's mound Dazzy has ruined on Bill.

THE REPTON Bull King takes a longer step forward than most pitchers. He likes his hole deeper and placed differently than his brothers. So the first thing the B. Dazzler does when he goes on to one of Bill Toomey's pet mounds always is to start pawing up the dirt like an old war horse, or tramping and pawing it around like a Devon Bull. Bill is not in the least bit perturbed. When the Dazzler gets through making his holes there generally isn't anything left of the pitcher's box but a couple of subway entrances.

"Can't I come out and help you?" sarcastically calls Toomey, when Dazzy starts to dig. The Dazzler smiles and continues to pitch. "Hey, Dazzy," continues Toomey, "You're supposed to be pitching baseball, not excavating for a subway."

Dazzy smiles and continues to dig. "You blankety-blank, blank non-of-a-see cook!" finally explodes Toomey. "Wait a minute and I'll send you a trench digger, or a couple of engines and shovels. You double-dug, pigeon-breasted, knock-kneed old hunk, you're ruining my whole ball park!"

And the Dazzler smiles and goes on digging.

BUT NOW it's Bill Toomey's turn to laugh. He who laughs last laughs best. If when the batteries are announced on April 14 and announced Jack O'Brien clarions, "Vance and Lopez for Brooklyn," and the Dazzler ambles into the box, well, wait a minute. The Dazzler will get the Dazzler's condescendence and just listen to the loud guffaw from the dugout, or press box, or wherever Toomey parks himself.

Toomey has done away with the turtleback diamond in Braves Field.

The B's lock pick from the pitcher's box to the outside edge section of the diamond has been reduced to a sixth of its length. The change will mean Ned will have to pitch from the pitcher's box. It is bound to take away some of the stress on the pitcher's arm.

IT WILL mean more hits. More hits to the outfield at least. The infielders may be benefited a bit by the change for ground hits on the level diamond will not take the weird jumps and bounces that the infielders have to make when the pitcher's box is so close to the outfield. There will be more long drives to the outfield—more homers.

Let's see, and didn't the nigger tell us this was going to be a year of reduced homers?

Taking the turtleback diamond away from the pitchers certainly isn't going to lessen home-run hitting.

Dazzy Vance isn't going to attend on a mountain top and hurt his feet over-down at little Robins' Mountain in the valley.

If Dazzy Vance starts to dig up Bill Toomey's nice new pitching box on April 11, he will not be able to dig very deep, or he will be thrown up at the Dazzler's feet.

So it's no wonder Bill Toomey is going around these days with a smile on his face. He is going to be in the spring on the mound on April 14. "Better late than never," grins Bill. "He who laughs last laughs an earful."

DOING away with the turtleback diamond isn't the only thing the lucky Lambs will witness when they park themselves at Braves Field on April 14. They've dressed up the whole park. There's a new front door, at least they look new in their trimmings of green and white. They also put in 2000 new seats to match the same number put in last year.

The playing field itself, outside of the skin diamond, has been resown with Toomey's pet grass seed, which he tells us is 20 per cent Stinsons, 20 per cent Creeping Bent and 20 per cent Kentucky Blue. The turf at Braves Field long has been the envy of the rest of the country, spring as some of these English greens which they claim takes half a century to cultivate. You would think they were walking on a Persian rug.

GRID GENIUS HAD SUPREME CONFIDENCE IN ABILITY OF ASSISTANTS AND PLAYERS

This is the first installment of the thrilling and impressive life story of Knute Rockne, the world's most famous football coach, who was killed in an airplane crash near Cottonwood, Kan., Tuesday. It is written by Warren Brown, noted sports writer of the Chicago Herald-Examiner and lifelong personal friend of Rockne. Mr. Brown's interesting narrative will continue daily until he has unfolded his brilliant portrayal of Rockne and his achievements.

By WARREN BROWN

Chicago, April 2—The last Saturday of November, 1926.

Out in the gathering darkness of Soldier Field, the football teams of Army and Navy were engaged in a struggle, the like of which has seldom, if ever, been duplicated on any lot in the land.

Among the cluster of writers attracted for the game, perhaps the most colorful of the year, was Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach.

His own team, victor in its eighth game played thus far in the season, scored upon but once, was in Pittsburgh, playing Carnegie Tech, and headed, as all seemed certain, toward a national championship.

The team had been entrusted to Heavily "Hunk" Anderson, Rockne's assistant.

Rockne had decided to look in on the game with Northwestern, and the corner was occupied by the Drake Press.

There is a time difference between the game and the press. The game was on, and the press was on, and the game was on, and the press was on.

Rockne, then, as always, was surrounded by well wishers, and by some who, led to back in the foreground, and it was one of these latter who muttered something about the dumbness of that Swede, Anderson.

ROCKNE AND HIS "STAR" PLAYER

Knute Rockne, famous grid coach of the University of Notre Dame, and his son, John Vincent Rockne, who is first fatherless by the tragic crash of the Transcontinental Western Airways plane in which Rockne lost his life.

Harvard Fencers in Title Tournay

The Harvard varsity fencers will compete in the national championship matches for team and individual titles today and tomorrow.

The following men will represent Harvard: Dana Allen, Carl Henry, William Wilson, Wilton Wain, Bob Lawson, and Kennedy Lusk.

They will be accompanied by Coach Ross Perry and Asst. Manager Dave Meyer.

Northwestern had been accused, of course, he Rockne said. But Rockne wanted something more than that. He wanted to see Northwestern's honor.

That he debated with himself long and earnestly, I know before he made his decision. In fact, there was no assurance that Rockne was coming to the Northwestern game.

Anderson, back at Notre Dame establishing himself as a line coach superior to any other, was left in charge of the team.

It is certain that Rockne gave some thought to that Carnegie Tech incident of 1924. Anderson thought of nothing else.

With the Northwestern game a week away, and surely a menace to whatever aspirations Notre Dame had for an unbeaten season, it was no surprise that Rockne came up as plainly as possible in the struggle with the Tribune.

That may, or may not have been the instructions Rockne left with Anderson.

And thus Rockne came to Evansville.

REFEREE ION STARS FOR WINNERS

By BILL GRIMES
Montreal, April 2—In the worst officiated game a visiting team ever experienced, the Bruins were eliminated from the National Hockey League championship by Les Canadiens in a 3 to 2 overtime game at the Forum.

Michie, who got a job on the Bruins which he will never live down, as far as Boston is concerned. From almost the opening face-off it was evident to any fair-minded witness that Ice was gunning for the Bruins, and that he had selected Eddie Shore at his target.

They talk about the losing game and the winning puck. At their worst they cannot be compared with the athletes in the Forum without doing them a rank injustice.

It was like a vandeville bill with an over abundance of skill. Les Canadiens failed in their failure and remaining on the ice, on many occasions without even being hit.

Morenz Took Dive When Shore Approached

Morenz Morenz was the star of the bill. Every time Eddie Shore came close to him, Morenz did a dive and Shore saw a costly portion of the game from the penalty box.

Although the Bruins were penalized with a modest regularity, Les Canadiens were allowed to get away with murder. Before the game was on for ten minutes, Morenz charged Hitchman over the head with his stick and drew only a minor penalty.

In the third period, Chapman was given a major for accidentally hitting Morenz on the nose during a fight.

Trojans Will Continue to Play Notre Dame

Los Angeles, Cal., April 2.—Howard Jones football coach of the University of Southern California revealed today that the intercollegiate football games between the Trojans and the Irish of Notre Dame would probably continue through the season. Jones said that the death of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, would not affect the games. The present contract for gridiron competition between the schools expires after their game next fall.

GRAPPLERS TANGLE AT ARENA

Complete Card at Arena Tonight

Ed Don George (Champion) vs. Nick Lutze (Challenger). For world's championship, final match, best two of three falls. SEMI-FINALS. Count George Zaryoff vs. Boris Demetoff. ONE FALL, 45 minute time limit. PRELIMINARIES. Al Morelli vs. Sallor Arnold, Pat McKay vs. George McLeod, Ribber McCon vs. Head Dandane, Pat McGill vs. Joe Stecher, Dan Koloff vs. John Patterson, Buck Weaver vs. John Grandtich.

By JACK CONWAY
Ed George, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Nick Lutze, challenger, are eagerly waiting for the going which will send them roaring into action in their title bout, best two falls out of three to finish, at the Arena tonight under the direction of Paul Bowser.

George's $10,000 diamond belt will be at stake. It is the belt he won from Gus Sonnenberg in Los Angeles last December. Gus came into possession of the famous trophy when he defeated the champion, Larry Law, at the Boston Garden. Lutze will rely upon his famous double arm lock and reverse back fall to upset George. These holds furnish the spectacular which is one of the reasons why the youthful Californian is so popular in Boston.

It will be the second meeting between George and Lutze. When they collided in their first bout at the Arena, Lutze was on the way to the championship, but he was defeated by the champion. He had suffered a slight concussion of the brain. He was removed to the City Hospital, where he was treated.

Lutze Fully Recovered, All Set for Bout

Since last meeting Lutze has regained in eight matches. He has shown the same ability that interested for George in their previous meeting. George has been training in Boston for a week and is in splendid condition. He has the mistake of underestimating Lutze. He realizes he is taking part in the most important contest of his career and is anxious to come through with a smashing victory. The champion looks a slight doubt in the battle, but he is backing Lutze to win.

Zaryoff and Demetoff in the Semifinal

Count Zaryoff, one of the most colorful wrestlers in the business, and Boris Demetoff, Bulgarian champion, will collide in the semifinal. There is a 45-minute limit to this contest. One fall will decide the winner. Al Morelli, Boston College athlete, will mingle with Sallor Arnold. This will be the hardest test Morelli has received since he started wrestling. Pat McKay, Irish heavyweight, will oppose George McLeod of California, who has always been a real favorite in the Matchless. Ribber McCon of Cambridge will go into action against Head Dandane, a French Canadian champion. Joe Stecher, the former world's heavyweight champion, will have Pat McGill as an opponent. Dan Koloff will take John Patterson, while Buck Weaver will try to take John Grandtich. It is the current wrestling card ever presented in this city.

Bowser Posts $15,000 for the Champion

Bowser today posted the final statement of George's $10,000 purse. In addition to this guarantee George will have the privilege of accepting 35 per cent of the receipts. Lutze's contract calls for him to receive 15 per cent of the gate. He says he will be the one who will get the big guarantees after tonight's tangle.

DAMON RUNYON Says

Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc. New York, April 2.—The withdrawal of the New York Milk Fund from the promotion of the Stribling-Schmeling contest was in no sense a reflection upon that contest. It was, and is, a good match viewed from any New York city, and complications and controversies had developed around it, and properly presented ought to draw a good gate anywhere. But it couldn't be presented in New York city, and complications and controversies had developed around it, and properly presented ought to draw a good gate anywhere.

Damon Runyon

As was explained in the statement issued announcing the withdrawal, the Milk Fund is not interested in the promotion of boxing contests save as a means to raise funds to provide free milk for the poor children of New York. It requires a great deal of money to conduct the show, and the Milk Fund show finally became the largest and most important boxing promotion in the land apparently produced a misapprehension in some quarters. It produced the misapprehension that the promotion of the nature had become a regular business with the Milk Fund, and managers and promoters, and the boxing show as it were an institution whose most important source was the boxing game.

Fights Helped Raise Necessary Funds

It was a fact, the milk fund would be very glad indeed if it could raise the funds necessary to its work by some means other than boxing shows. But it requires over $100,000 per year to conduct this work, and some 10 years ago Mrs. Hearst and her husband turned to these boxing shows as a swift and generally sure means of raising some of the money. However, the boxing shows are by no means the only source of revenue of the milk fund. They are merely incidental, and at no time did the fund contemplate, or secure identification with the professional promotion in this field. It has always operated these shows in connection with some regular promoter—first the late Ted Dickson, then J. J. Leland, and finally W. F. Carey, and the Madison Square Garden Corporation. The shows have always been in cooperation and direction of the New York Boxing Commission, and it has never been the endeavor of the milk fund to make the highest milk fund affair of the kind of the year.

Schmeling Loyal to Milk Fund

Following the Schmeling-Sharkey show of 1929, the milk fund representatives placed Max Schmeling as one of the principals of the 1931 show, finally pairing him with young Stribling after a vain effort to match him with Jack Sharkey again in accordance with the wishes of the New York Boxing Commission. Schmeling was turned out as one of the leading heavyweight contenders by a milk fund show of 1928, and his claim in the heavy New York title was established by New York commission, was established in another milk fund show. Schmeling himself and his manager, Joe Jacob, have been extremely loyal to the milk fund and have consistently refused to appear under any other auspices. The milk fund and its co-operation in this instance, the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, might have taken the Schmeling-Stribling match to any one of several outside cities, but after due consideration of every phase of the situation it has been decided by Mrs. Hearst and her associates that the world's greatest fight of the year would be held in New York city, and the worthy charities of other cities, any activity of the milk fund must necessarily be confined to New York city. Hence the withdrawal.

In the withdrawal there is also a spirit of fairness toward Schmeling and his loyalty to the Milk Fund. It relieves him of obligations that he felt binding upon him and gives him and Jacob the opportunity of continuing to fight. The Milk Fund will, of course, have no interest in the fight, which will take place around the usual date of the Milk Fund show—late in May or early in June, as they have been approved by James A. Farley,

In 1913 he took a teaching position at a nine-hole club at Crawford, N. H., and the year following became associated with a club at

PHILLIES AWAIT GOOD WEATHER

Philadelphia, April 2 (AP)—Their eyes peered for weather that will enable them to get in some practice after two days of idleness, the Philadelphia Nationals arrived to play from their Southern training trip.

Manager Burt Shotton plans to send Ace Elliott against the Athletics in the opening game tomorrow of the city series. Elliott has shown more stuff this spring than ever before, Shotton says. Only Chuck Klein and Phil Collins, the half-outs, are missing from the squad. No word has been heard from them recently. The Athletics will arrive tomorrow morning. They are scheduled to play five games with the Phillies before the regular season opens.

B. C. Grad to Coach Frosh

The new freshman baseball coach at Boston College will be appointed within the next week. The position of yearling coach was left unoccupied by the appointment of Frank McCreesh as varsity coach. McCreesh had been in charge of freshmen baseball since 1927.

At the present time it appears as though the Boston College authorities will continue in the graduate coaching system and will appoint a new coach from among the numerous Major and Gold diamond stars of recent years. Hantscourt,

Mrs. G. S. Hill, of Kansas City, advanced to the semi-finals with a three and one victory over Mrs. Sara Fowles Wadsworth of Pittsburgh. Maureen O'Connell, of Kenilworth, N. Canada to Send Ring Team

With entries still coming in and a list of Western boxers already on their way to Boston, the Junior national championships to be held at the Boston Arena next Monday and Tuesday nights are expected to set a new record for entries.

With the champion of Nova Scotia and Montreal being part of the list, the popularity of the sport of prominence in this country, it is expected that 15,000 will provide more than 1,000 seats in the arena. Six entries were received from Cincinnati.

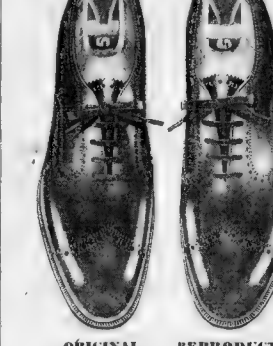

FLORIDA CAMP PICKED FOR '32

at Petersburg, Fla., April 3.—The Braves break camp today and begin their journey back to Boston. Despite the fact that the weather has been unusually bad this spring, the Boston players have reached into good shape, and the team generally is probably as fit as any other club in the league.

The Boston team will have a four-day rest before leaving for their spring training camp in Florida, which will start on April 10. The team will leave for St. Petersburg this afternoon, the club will arrive in Macon early tomorrow morning.
